Well folks ,, It's a new year and like everyone else, I hope it's better than the last two years. I very much appreciate the confidence you all have in me to lead the club through this next year and I will do my very best to do that. we had our first board meeting last night, and hit a snag right off the bat. The church's Wi Fi was cutting in and out and we were unable to get the meeting out on Zoom. In brief, We still have a few appointed positions that we need volunteers to fill. Ed Mastin who has been our photographer has left do to health reasons so we need someone to replace him. You don't need to be a professional, just someone who can take good pictures. We still need someone to take over the Audio-Visual duties. This can be learned. We start the set up for the meeting at 4:00 on Thursday, the day of the meeting, and anyone who is interested can be there to assist and see what it involves. We are trying to get the CBN wheels ordered. Anyone wanting to order one needs to go to Woodturners Wonders website, pick out what he or she wants, Item # etc. , And get the money to Treasure Alan Fields by the end of the Feb. meeting. The Christmas party was a huge success, netting the club more than $2000. from the generosity of members donating to the silent auction, as well as a generous one from Robert Webster at Rockler. Also, If you have your yearly dues paid by the break at this coming meeting, A name will be drawn , from those who have paid, and that person will receive a $50. Rockler gift card. I would like to see everyone there at the meeting, but I realize that some are leaning to the cautious side, and I completely understand that. If you feel safer wearing a mask, then by all means, wear a mask.

So,, I'm looking forward to this and looking forward to seeing you all Thursday. Kind Regards and take care

Lee Craft. President HCW

Quarterly Challenge

January Quarterly Challenge is to make something from a 2X4. Be creative!!!

Something Nice

I want to share something nice with all of you. You have seen the purpleheart tractor part blanks, I made, and am now turning. Well, one of my longtime friends came to Dallas and she and Carole went to Arboretum. I had sent one of the finished purpleheart parts to be given to her. Last night she called and during conversation she told Carole that: "Every time I look at bowl, I think of how it was made with "loving hands". I do not feel this (Loving hands) is something unique to me. I have seen the things many of you make to be given to others. Obviously, there are many "loving hands" out there. And I have gotten to meet and make friends with a bunch of "loving hands" in my association with all of you. So, THANKS, Cheryl, Donna, George, Joe, Tim, Gary, Sammy and all the rest of the HCW community. Keep me in your thoughts. Send me pictures of what you are doing (includes everyone in HCW) jimb6856gmail.com

Hugo Lake State Park a Family Thanksgiving Tradition

For as long as I can remember, my family has packed up for the woods every Thanksgiving. My husband and I have lifetime Oklahoma Hunting Licenses and Rifle season is always the week of Thanksgiving. We have made lots of memories with the kids living in a tent or in a cabin in the woods. We have woken up to snow outside our tent, seen raccoons stealing our food, felt like the Titanic sinking in a monsoon of icy rain, rolled in mud (ask my kids how mad I got), climbed trees, made forts, skipped rocks on the water, live music by the campfire.... We have memories of loved ones (aunt, cousin, grandpa), who are now deceased, who use to come visit us while camping. Then there are the oodles of pictures of us relaxing and acting silly. There is a saying "What happens at deer camp, stays at deer camp!" It has become a highlight of every year and something we all look forward to. One year I forgot the kitchen sink and brought my pen lathe instead so I could turn mini snowmen. This year we sat around the campfire, and we carved Christmas ornaments. As the kids have gotten older, we have had to accommodate by driving 115 miles out of the woods to Black Friday shop and then another 115 miles back. No matter what, there is nothing as great as getting outside and enjoying nature, relaxing, daydreaming and letting your creative juices flow. If you are looking for inspiration and haven't been camping in a while... you might consider it!

What is wrong with this picture? (I saw this while walking and had to scratch my head)

Tips of the month!

There are lots of things made of silicone that can benefit a woodturner...

Silicone Molds are available for resin projects and are used often by those who wish to make their own pen blanks.

Silicone Glue Brushes are handy for applying wood glue to a project. After use, you can let the brush dry, and the crusty glue will just peel off for an easy cleanup.

Silicone Mats are also super handy for easy project cleanup.

However, don't get super glue on the edge of a silicone mat. If it sticks to your work bench and you pull on the silicone mat... it will tear!

Woodturning Quotes:

Ever wonder the difference between Craft and Art mentality?...

“A poorly designed turning is a constant and irritating reminder to you and to others that you could have done better; and a needless waste of resources and of your turning abilities.” – Mike Darlow

“I always say, if it don’t work out... so what! It’s ok... don’t worry about it. Doctors bury their mistakes, we burn them!” -Emmet Kane

This is a good blend of Art and Craft...

“I am one who turns for me I turn what I like. If someone likes what I make great!

Customers means business which means production which means efficiency which means proficiency in every aspect of the turning process.

the skill which one manipulates their turning tools matters greatly in the finished product.

An artist was asked how he painted such a beautiful picture. He answered that the painting was already on the canvas he simply uncovered it with his brushes.

My goal in turning is to look at the piece of wood, decide what it wants to be then efficiently turn away everything that isn’t that object.” – Tim White

More food for thought on Art and Craft...

Artists make “one-offs” that are artistly embellished turnings... I heard a Craft production woodworker once say, and I’m paraphrasing, that all his pieces were “one-offs”. He said he didn’t just make useful items out of wood. He categorized each piece of wood as to what item to make, that would show off the wood’s God given grain figure. He said each utilitarian item he made was “unique” in its organic features, his job was to cooperate with nature and highlight those qualities in the pieces he made.

Continuing that thought: If the function of some woodturnings is art and its use is to emit emotion... don’t all woodturnings serve a purpose and use? Can’t Craft production woodturnings be naturally artistic while still being utilitarian useful?

Perhaps maybe Art and Craft aren’t so different after all!

(All this is not to say that bad art and poorly crafted woodturnings are anything more than dross.)

IMHO anyway... Donna Frazier

Black Ironwood

Facts on Black Ironwood

from Black Ironwood | The Wood Database - Lumber Identification \(Hardwood\) \(wood-database.com\)

- ♦ Janka Hardness: 3660 lbf
- ♦ High cutting resistance, and difficult to work due to density. Turns and finishes well.
- ♦ Black Ironwood's heartwood can be a range of reds, oranges, violets, and browns. Pale yellowish white sapwood is clearly demarcated from heartwood.
- ♦ Diffuse-porous; small to medium pores in no specific arrangement, moderately numerous; solitary and radial multiples of 2-3; gum deposits in heartwood pores present; growth rings usually indistinct; narrow rays not visible without lens, close spacing; parenchyma vasicentric.
- ♦ Among the heaviest woods on earth, Black Ironwood is found in southern Florida, making it the heaviest wood in the United States, (along with the unrelated Desert Ironwood perhaps being a close second).

If this wood seems interesting please take the opportunity to try Black ironwood, you may like it!
